

Figure 1. How social connections interacts with mobile technologies, health, and individual and contextual factors.

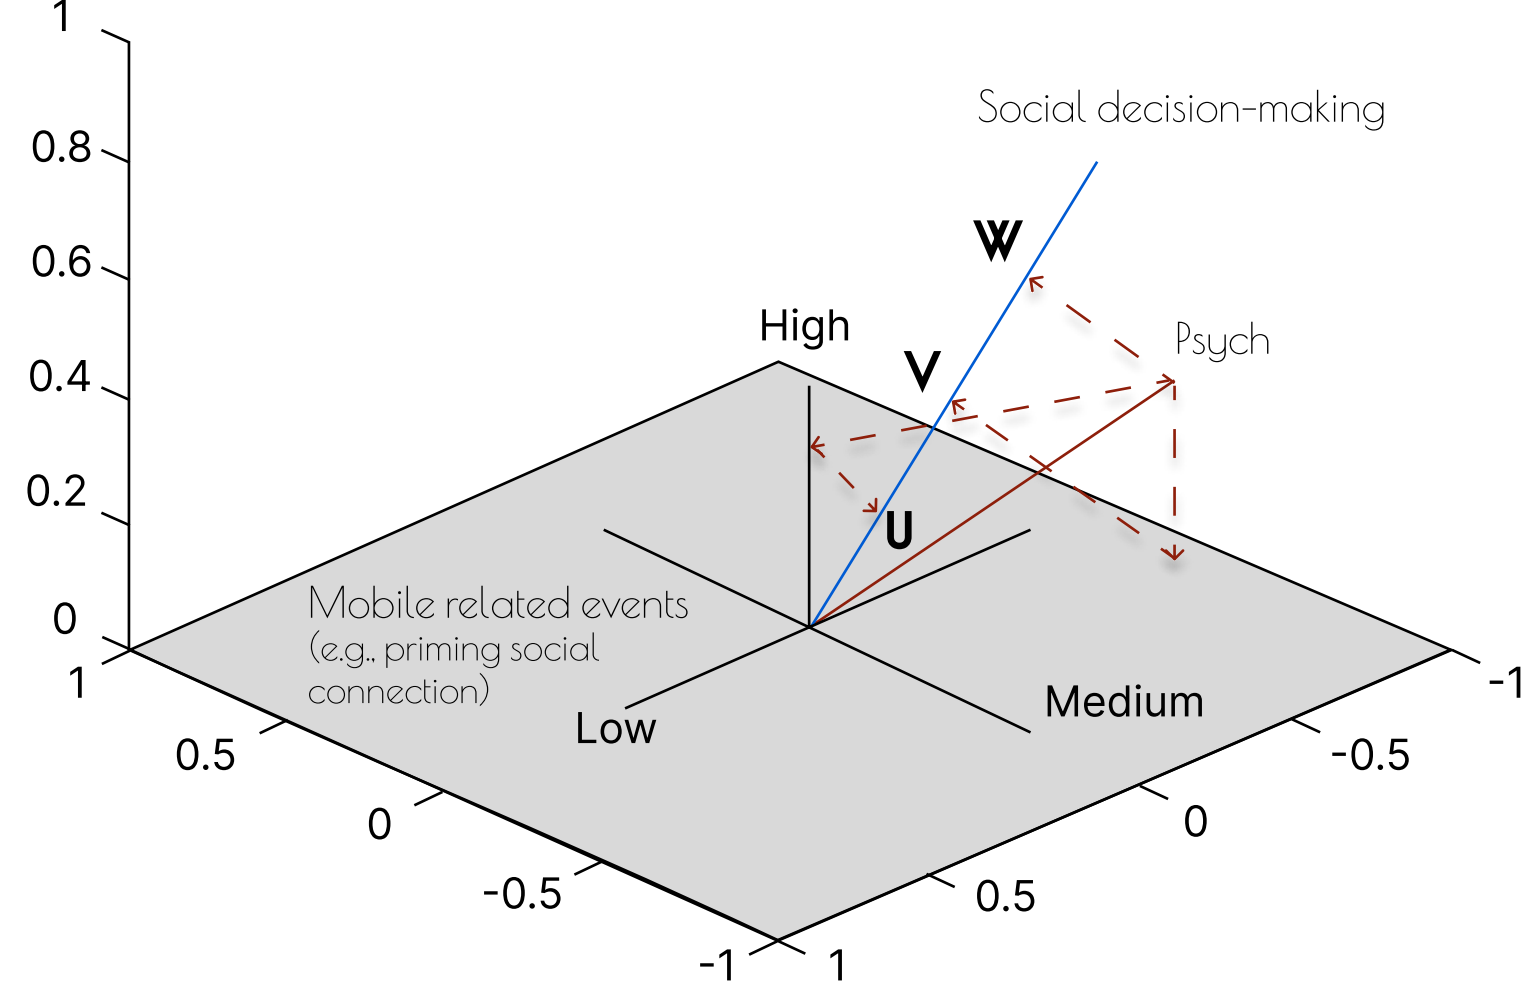

Figure 2. A demonstration of how the direct decision-making process can result in different probabilities (W) than if participants were prompted to think about their connection network first (V or U).